Recommendation:*
That the City Council follows the Planning Commission's recommendation and approves the requested Zoning Map Amendment.

Background/Discussion (?)
BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION:

Salt Lake City has received a request from Trevor Cell, the property owner, to rezone the property at approximately 450 East 700 South from RMF-35 Moderate Density Multifamily Residential to RMF-30 Low Density Multifamily Residential. The applicant has submitted this request to enable the construction of two new houses on the property in a configuration similar to how properties in the area would have been historically divided. In the RMF-35 Moderate Density Multi-Family Residential zoning district, the lot dimension requirements do not allow the flexibility necessary for the applicant's proposed configuration. In that district, single-family houses must have a lot no smaller than 5,000 square feet and a minimum lot width of 50 feet. In the proposed RMF-30 Low Density Multi-Family Residential zoning district, lots for single-family houses may be as small as 2,000 square feet without a prescribed minimum width, enabling additional single-family lots on the site. The proposed district is intended to maintain the existing character of established residential neighborhoods while enabling small-scale development.

The applicant has provided a preliminary site plan of his desired lot layout. However, if the Salt Lake City Council adopts this rezone request, the applicant would then need to submit the necessary development applications, and the proposal would need to comply with all applicable regulations within the Salt Lake City Zoning Ordinance. Additional details regarding this request can be found in Planning Staff's report for the Planning Commission.

Preservation Easement

Preservation Utah purchased an easement (or special right to something on a property held by an outside party) in 1993. The easement is intended to preserve the existing house and prohibits demolition or significant exterior changes without the express consent of the easement holder. Planning staff has been in contact with Preservation Utah staff since receiving this application in July 2023. Staff at Preservation Utah have indicated that the development of the site would need to be approved by their Historic Properties Committee. At this point, they do not have a position on this request since development plans have not been finalized or submitted for their board to review. The easement is private, and Salt Lake City does not have any legal interest in it.

Community Benefit Ordinance

This rezone request was submitted before the adoption of the community benefit ordinance. Planning staff and the Planning Commission reviewed it according to the factors that were in place before March 2024.

PLANNING COMMISSION HEARING AND RECOMMENDATION

On February 14, 2024, the Planning Commission reviewed the proposal and held a public hearing. The hearing can be viewed here, beginning at 1:44:23. Two individuals commented on the request. The first expressed concern about impacts to Preservation Utah's easement on the site, asking that the City Council require additional enforcement with the rezone. The other commented on the site's historic configuration, citing Sanborn maps of the vicinity.

The Planning Commission voted unanimously to forward a recommendation to approve the request.
