GRANT DETAILS:

This project will assess potential changes to Salt Lake City's one-way streets, 500 South and 600 South, from Interstate 15 to residential areas near 700 East. Redevelopment is reshaping the landscape from auto-centric businesses and warehouses to apartments, restaurants, and offices -- places where people live, work, and play. The streets are boundaries for three WFRC centers including the Salt Lake City Metropolitan Center; the streets themselves are transportation barriers, particularly for pedestrians and bicyclists, with a history of fatalities. This study will consider redesigning the streets as boulevards with improved walking and bicycling along them and better connections across them. This project will complete concept reports, cost estimates, and a summary of project engagement for transformative changes. The match for this project will be met with staff time and local cash funds.
