National Wastewater Surveillance System (NWSS)

CDC's NWSS works with local health departments to track SARS-CoV-2 levels in wastewater so communities can act quickly to prevent the spread of COVID-19.

Wastewater sampling is considered an accurate early leading indicator of whether COVID-19 is spreading in a community, especially when testing is not timely or publicly recorded.

Find local data at deq.utah.gov/water-quality

COVID 19 update

Current status

New wastewater data shows increases at 6 sites in the state: Central Valley, South Valley, Tooele, Price River, Ashley Valley, and St. George.

---

SLC levels show a slight uptick but not a trend at this point. This week shows 31 MCG while on 3/29 we were at 24 MCG.

---

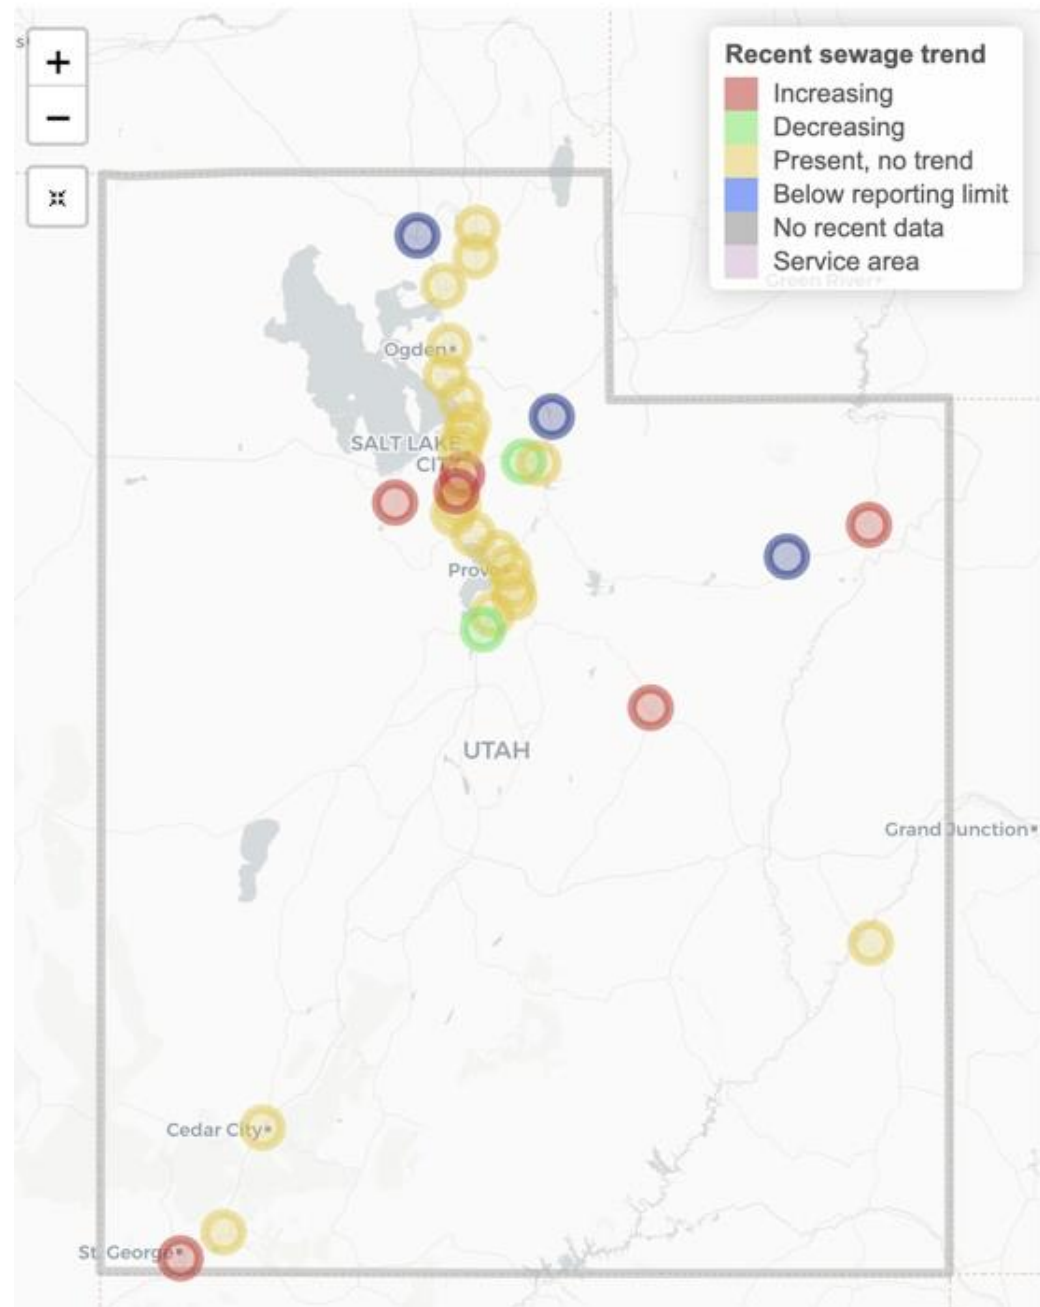

These are still very low. Peaks have been above 4,400.

---

The BA.2 variant is now 76.4% of all Utah's cases.

---

We are seeing surges in other parts of the country, like Philadelphia, which has re-instituted a mask requirement after a 50% increase in cases over 10 days.

Salt Lake City WRF

Estimated population served: 209,645
